Dear Ms Miller,

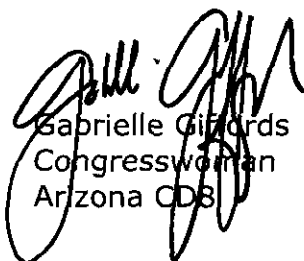

I have filed three United States House of Representatives Financial Disclosure Statements with the House Committee on Standards. The first report was filed on 1/5/2006, with a supplemental letter on 8/15/2006, and covered the period of 1/1/2005 through 1/5/2006. The second report was filed on 5/17/2007 and covered the calendar year of 2006. The third report was filed on 8/11/2008 and covered the calendar year of 2007. In all three years, I listed my Arizona state retirement account as an asset worth between $1,000 and $15,000. I further noted that this is not a self-directing account and provides no income.

I recently realized that the second Arizona state retirement account had inadvertently been omitted from the reports. This second account is an asset worth between $15,000 and $50,000 and is now invested in three funds provided by the state retirement plan. These funds are the American Funds Capital World Growth and Income, the American Century Equity-Income Fund, and the Vanguard Institutional Index Fund

I understand that you will be able to add this letter to all three reports so that the second Arizona state retirement account is disclosed and described.

I apologize for this inadvertent omission and for the additional work caused to your office of adding this letter to the original reports. Please contact me if you need further information.

Sincerely,

Gabrielle Giffords
Congresswoman
