RE: 2013 Financial Disclosure Statement Amendment/Explanation

Dear Ms. Haas:

I am in receipt of the letter dated June 20, 2014 from the Committee on Ethics requesting additional information pertaining to my recently filed 2013 Financial Disclosure Statement.

To address the specific information requested by the Committee I am offering the following as an amendment or explanation to my previous filing:

1. In Section A-3c, the identification of K-1 Shareholder Income from Three Bridges Advisors, Inc. refers to taxable income received personally by me from Three Bridges Advisors, Inc. Though now closed, Three Bridges Advisors, Inc. was a professional services, consulting, and government relations firm for which I was the 100% owner. The income was reported to me on a federal K-1 Shareholder form provided by the firm in its corporate capacity to me as an individual shareholder.
2. In Section A-3c, the itemization of a Three Bridges Advisors, Inc. note receivable refers to a loan that I made in my personal capacity to Three Bridges Advisors, Inc. in its corporate capacity, a firm for which I was the 100% owner. Thus in my personal capacity I held as an asset the note receivable representing the outstanding debt that Three Bridges Advisors, Inc. owed to me in my personal capacity as a lender.

Should you require additional information regarding this amendment and explanation, please contact me at 202-225-5961.

With much respect,

D W Jolly
